It has also a large and choice collection of old masters drawings and etchings, many of them from Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Peter Lelys collections, as well as coins, medals, &c. These collections were chiefly made by the present proprietors grandfather, who was the author of a book upon the subject called Notices Illustrative of the Drawings and Sketches of some of the most Distinguished Masters. He was offered a baronetcy by Mr. Pitt in the latter years of his life. His son, Hugh Reveley, Esq., was called to the bar, and appointed Speakers secretary, by Sir John Mitford, his cousin, and afterwards followed him to Ireland as Purse-bearer when Sir John became Lord Redesdale and Lord Chancellor of Ireland. He served the office of Sheriff for Merioneth in 1811. In the chancel of Mitford Church is a curious monument--mentioned by Boswell in his Antiquities --to the memory of Bertram Reveley, the same probably who married Rosamond Wentworth, of Wentworth Woodhouse, the niece of the great Lord Strafford. His son raised a body of horse in support of the king against the parliament, and was in the battle of Marston Moor. In the words of Mitford the historian, Reveley held on with the defeated army under the Prince, and was afterwards killed at the decisive battle of Naseby. BICHABDS, Biohard Meredyth, Esq., of Caerynwch, Merionethshire. J. P. and D. L. for the co. of Merioneth; High Sheriff for same co. in 1865; J.
